Barkley's Reporters, Videographers, Trial Consultants and Trainers Recognized as Among the Very Best

LOS ANGELES, California [September 27, 2019] -- Barkley Court Reporters announced today that it has been named to The Recorder's Best of 2019 Hall of Fame, an acknowledgement of its longstanding and continuing commitment to raising the bar for the profession of court reporting. Barkley has been recognized by the publication's readers as one of the top court reporting companies for many years, most often named as the very best.

In addition to this distinction, The Recorder's Best of 2019 Survey named Barkley:

- Second for Court Reporting & Deposition Services
- Second for Video Deposition Services
- First for "Hot Seat" Trial Technician services for the third straight year
- First for Online Continuing Legal Education for the second straight year
- Second for Continuing Legal Education two years in a row

"We are grateful to our clients for the opportunity of serving them and taking the time to recognize us as their company of choice for all the above categories since 1972," said Mason Farmani, Barkley's CEO and Managing Partner. "We remain committed to exceeding our clients' expectations, and we could not have done this without the amazing team of court reporters, videographers, trial consultants, trainers and staff who deliver the highest caliber of customer service and expertise to our clients."

The Recorder is an essential source of news and a well-respected legal community publication. Published each year, The Recorder's Best Of survey recognizes the vendors that California lawyers and firm administrators turn to first for the legal services their practice needs.
